Hari Raya Story Eid Al-Fitr 1445 Hijr

Eid al-Fitr, also known as Eid, is a significant Islamic celebration that marks the end of Ramadan, the holy month of fasting. In countries with vibrant Islamic communities, such as Indonesia, the festival is a time of joy, reflection, and communal bonding.

Rooted in the teachings of Prophet Muhammad, Eid al-Fitr is a culmination of a month-long period of fasting, prayer, and self-discipline. Muslims celebrate the end of Ramadan with gratitude, expressing thanks for the strength and resilience shown during the fasting period.

On the evening preceding Eid, known as "Lailat al-Qadr" or the Night of Power, Muslims gathered in mosques across Indonesia for prayers. Families share a special meal to break the final fast and at night the youngsters will tour around the complex and recite takbir, creating a festive atmosphere. The next morning, Muslims will wear their special and fresh attire and do the Eid prayer. After the prayers, families indulge in feasts featuring traditional dishes like Rendang, Ketupat, Opor, and an assortment of sweets. The neighbors will visit and exchange greetings and dishes, fostering a sense of community and generosity.

Central to the spirit of Eid is the act of giving to those less fortunate, the initiatives can be seen with families distributing zakat to ensure everyone could partake in the celebration. Eid al-Fitr is not only an act of worship but also the enduring legacy of a celebration that binds Muslims together in the spirit of unity and compassion.

Preserving Coastal Paradise: Sunset Island Beach Clean-Up

Nirwana Gardens recently took a momentous beach cleaning initiative on the pristine shores of Sunset Island. Beach cleaning holds profound significance in safeguarding marine life and maintaining the delicate balance of ecosystems. The oceans, which cover over 70% of the Earth's surface, are the lifeline of our planet.

This eco-centrist initiative aims to not only enhance the beauty and appeal of Sunset Island's beaches but also to address underlying environmental challenges. Our team meticulously combed through the sands, targeting microplastics and other pollutants that often elude the naked eye. The staff members, driven by a shared commitment to preserving nature's beauty, engaged in the session to deepen their understanding of the delicate balance that sustains coastal ecosystems.

Beyond aesthetic benefits, the beach cleaning event aimed to address the broader ecological challenges faced by Sunset Island. By conducting this micro-cleanup effort, the Nirwana Gardens team worked to mitigate potential threats to marine life, fostering a healthier and more resilient environment.

As Nirwana Gardens continues its efforts in sustainable tourism, the Sunset Island beach cleaning initiative stands as a commitment to the resort's commitment to fostering positive environmental change. This effort represents a conscious step towards nurturing the delicate balance of nature, ensuring the continued pristine beauty of Sunset Island for generations to come.

What's On Q2 2024

Nirwana Gardens:

Sowing Sustainability through Hydroponic Farming

Beyond the lush green landscapes of Nirwana Gardens, lies a commitment to preserve nature to the roots. The heart of this green practice dedication is our hydroponics farm, which proudly creates carefully nurtured and fresh produce.

The hydroponics farm at Nirwana Gardens is not just a source of fresh greens; it's an innovative and health-conscious way of cultivating crops. Hydroponics, as a soilless cultivation method, eliminates the need for fumigants like methyl bromide. Instead, we use nutrient-rich water solutions to nourish plants directly which reduces the risk of chemical residues in crops, promoting cleaner and healthier produce.

What makes this approach stand out is its closed-loop system. We extend the life of the seeds from the kitchen to find new life on the farm, and the kitchen scraps are repurposed into nutrient-rich solutions for the hydroponic beds. This sustainable cycle ensures minimal waste and a continuous supply of fresh produce.

The hydroponic beds showcase a variety of thriving products; spinach, bok choy, green mustard, celery, tomatoes, basil, papaya, lemongrass, green chili, water spinach, eggplant, and paprika. These crops flourish without the need for extensive land use, making hydroponics an eco-friendly and efficient method of cultivation.

As you indulge in our culinary options, you partake in not just a meal but also engage in sustainable life choices. The hydroponics farm exemplifies how innovation in cultivation techniques can lead to a greener, eco-conscious way for us to provide a sustainable menu for generations of guests.

Nirwana Gardens: Fresh Approach from Farm to Your Table

Palak Paneer

Palak is a Hindi word that means Spinach, and Paneer is an Indian type of cottage cheese. It's a classic and well-loved Indian dish, that traces its roots back to the North Indian region, particularly Punjab. Paneer, traditionally made by curdling milk and pressing the curds, brings a mild and creamy texture to the dish. Palak, or spinach, not only contributes a vibrant green hue but also infuses the dish with a wealth of nutrients.

What sets our Palak Paneer apart is our commitment to a farm-to-table approach. The spinach used in this dish is sourced directly from our own hydroponics farm. This farm-to-table journey enhances the overall dining experience, emphasizing sustainability and a connection to the origins of the ingredients. In our kitchen, the freshly harvested spinach is carefully blended with aromatic spices, creating a rich puree that forms the flavourful base of the Palak Paneer. The Paneer, soft and delicate, is then delicately folded into the spinach mixture, absorbing the rich flavours and creating a creamy texture.

Jal Jeera

Jal Jeera, which means water and cumin in Hindi, is a refreshing drink celebrated for its vibrant and punchy flavours. What makes it stand out is the use of fresh mints, sourced from our hydroponics in the morning, ensuring a burst of freshness that cools off the heat of the day. This attention to sourcing of ingredients from the farm allows for crisp yet aromatic mint leaves that enhance this beverage's revitalizing quality.

Mess-terpiece:

Tie Dye and Batik Painting for Colourful Adventures

As children are increasingly immersed in a world filled with digital distractions, the need for activities that stimulate their creativity becomes paramount. Amidst the hustle and bustle of the technological era, introducing kids to hands-on artistic activities can provide a refreshing break and open doors to imagination.

Tie-dyeing is a vibrant and exciting activity that allows children to explore colour, pattern, and design in a hands-on way. Let them light up the atmosphere with the excitement of various colour designs, armed with plain white cotton T-shirts, and rubber bands, as those little ones jump into the world of tie-dye. They can experiment with spirals, crumples, and folds, working with precision and a dash of chaos, claiming them as their very own masterpiece or mess-terpiece.

As the tie-dyed fabric rests and sets, another adventure awaits the young artists – the timeless art of Batik painting. Originating from various cultures such as Indonesia and Malaysia, Batik art offers a unique and hands-on experience for kids to express their creativity while learning about the fascinating history behind this ancient craft.

The room may be filled with laughter along with vibrant leftover dye and the faint scent of wax, but what lingers most is the sense of accomplishment, shared joy of creative exploration and their own Mess-terpiece. Experience the transformation of a simple crafting session into a memorable adventure of colours, patterns, and artistic self-expression.
